

Standard Measure: (inches)

Step 1: Width x Height= Total square inches

Step 2: Divide your total square inches by 144, and round to the nearest one hundredth of a foot. This will be the piece footage. Please keep in mind the minimums stated on page 5.

Step 3: Multiply piece footage by the square footage cost. To determine the square footage cost, find the Price Group of the style you prefer, and match it with the desired wood type.

Step 4: Add any extras that are not based upon square footage. Example: Hinge drill, finger pulls, etc.

Step 5: Add any extras that are based upon square footage. Example: Beaded Panels, etc.

Step 6: Multiply the total piece cost by your trade discount. This will give you the total cost of the piece. This discount is available to all commercial cabinetmakers and contractors. Call your customer service representative to get your trade discount.

 Note: For 1" Thick doors add 25% to the total cost.

Example:

Style: 400 w/ raised panel

Specie: Natural Red Oak

Door Size: 16" X 24"

Door Options: Standard BH Hinge Drill

2.67 square feet X $xx.xx = $xx.xx Material Cost

2-BH Hinge Drill + $ x.xx Drill Cost

Total: $xx.xx <The total is subject to your trade discount.

Call Customer Service for Current Pricing

Rules for door style maximum sizes:

1. A door that has any frame part wider than 5" must be priced as a wainscoting panel (see pricing on page 30, 31).
2. Any door style with vertical grain (incl. 401,402), that is wider than 24" and/or taller than 96" must be priced as a wainscoting panel (see pricing on page 30, 31).
3. Any door style with vertical grain (incl. 401,402), that is wider than 36", and/or taller than 42" must be priced as a wainscoting panel (see pricing on page 30, 31).

Please keep in mind all dimensioning on the raised panel page. Make sure when choosing profiles for the order, that all reveals will give the proper appearance required. While Westwind will try to look out for potential conflicts in profiles, we cannot be held responsible. Our customer service representatives see a great number of orders go through daily and cannot catch everything. Also, try as best possible to fill out the entire order form correctly. Any error as a result of an improperly filled out order form will not be Westwind's responsibility.